

Delphi Display Systems Once Again Achieves ISO 9001:2008 Certification for Quality Management Standards

Costa Mesa, CA – July 10, 2015 – Delphi Display Systems, Inc. – the global leader in consumer engagement and business optimization technology solutions in the food service and other digital signage market verticals announced today that it has once again been recognized for its continued commitment to quality and excellence by being recertified in accordance with ISO 9001:2008. This announcement comes after an extensive audit of its entire operations in accordance with ISO standards. The International Organization for Standardization (ISO) is the world’s most widely accepted standard for quality management systems.

To maintain certification, organizations must complete a rigorous auditing process by an independent third-party registrar. QAS International conducted the audit of Delphi and noted the company’s widespread dedication to quality. "This significant business achievement demonstrates commitment to quality management systems (QMS), client satisfaction and continual improvement," said Saloumeh Danesh, lead auditor for QAS International. "Delphi has shown that they focus on improving the effectiveness of QMS to enhance customer satisfaction by meeting their requirements and expectations. Delphi Display Systems is one the top companies that I audited in 2015."

ISO certification recognizes businesses for their adherence to standards which ensure continual quality and performance improvements in meeting regulations, business requirements, and customer satisfaction. Delphi’s ISO 9001:2008 recertification demonstrates that its internal quality management systems and procedures meet the stringent requirements of ISO and underscores the company’s pledge to continually improve its products, procedures, and services.

"Our recertification underscores Delphi’s ongoing commitment to quality and continuous process improvement" said Mike DeSon, Delphi’s Chief Operating Officer. "Our primary objective is to consistently achieve the highest levels of service, support, and product performance in the markets we serve, and as a result of our success in these efforts, our products and services continue to set the standards for quality, reliability, and customer satisfaction."
